

About ContentMine

What do we do, and why?

How can this be useful to you?

The right to read is the right to mine.

The Hargreaves report (UK) allowing limitations and exceptions for non-commercial content mining research

OUR MISSION

“make 100,000,000 facts from the scholarly literature open, accessible and reusable”

*Ulrich's database: <http://ulrichsweb.serialssolutions.com/login>

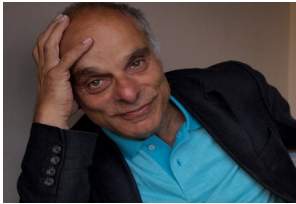

THE SCALE OF THE TASK

- ~ 27,000 peer reviewed journals*
- > 5,000 publishers
- ~ 3,000 new papers per day
- “costing” 15 Billion USD to publish
- Representing 500 Billion USD of research

*Ulrich's database: <http://ulrichsweb.serialssolutions.com/login>

OUR TEAM

Charles Oppenheim

@CharlesOppenh

Ross Mounce

@rmounce

Richard Smith-
Unna

@blahah404

Graham Steel

@McDawg

Mark
MacGillivray

@cottagelabs

Stephanie
Smith-Unna

@treblesteph

Peter Murray-
Rust

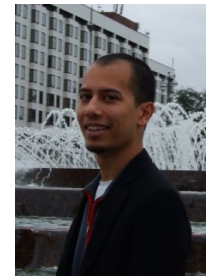

@petermurray
rust

Stefan
Kasberger

@stefan
kasberger

Christopher
Kittel

@chris_kittel

Jenny Molloy

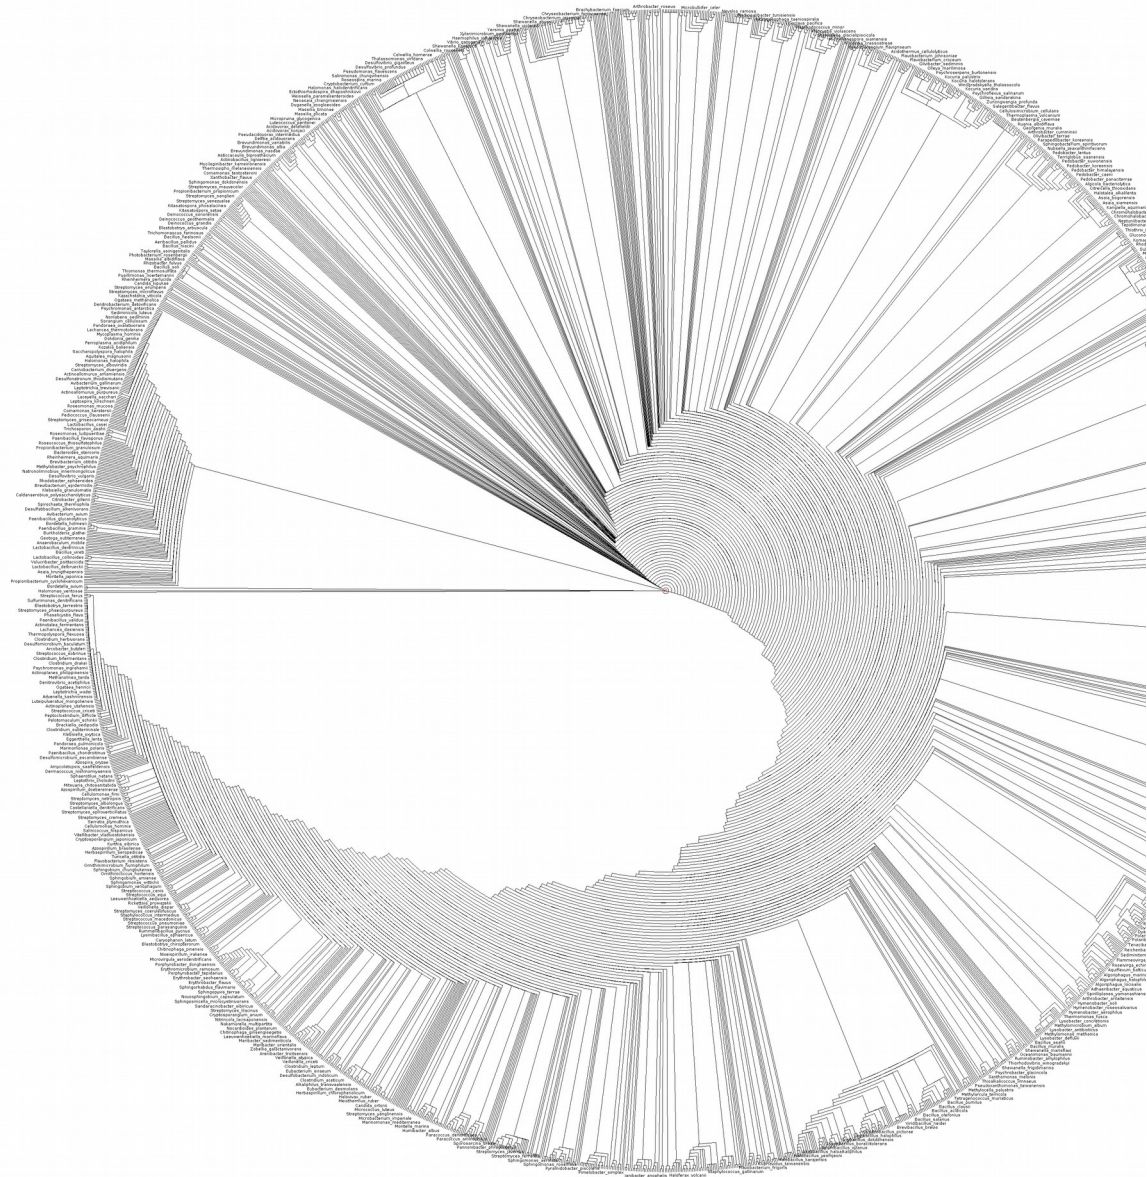

@jenny_molloy

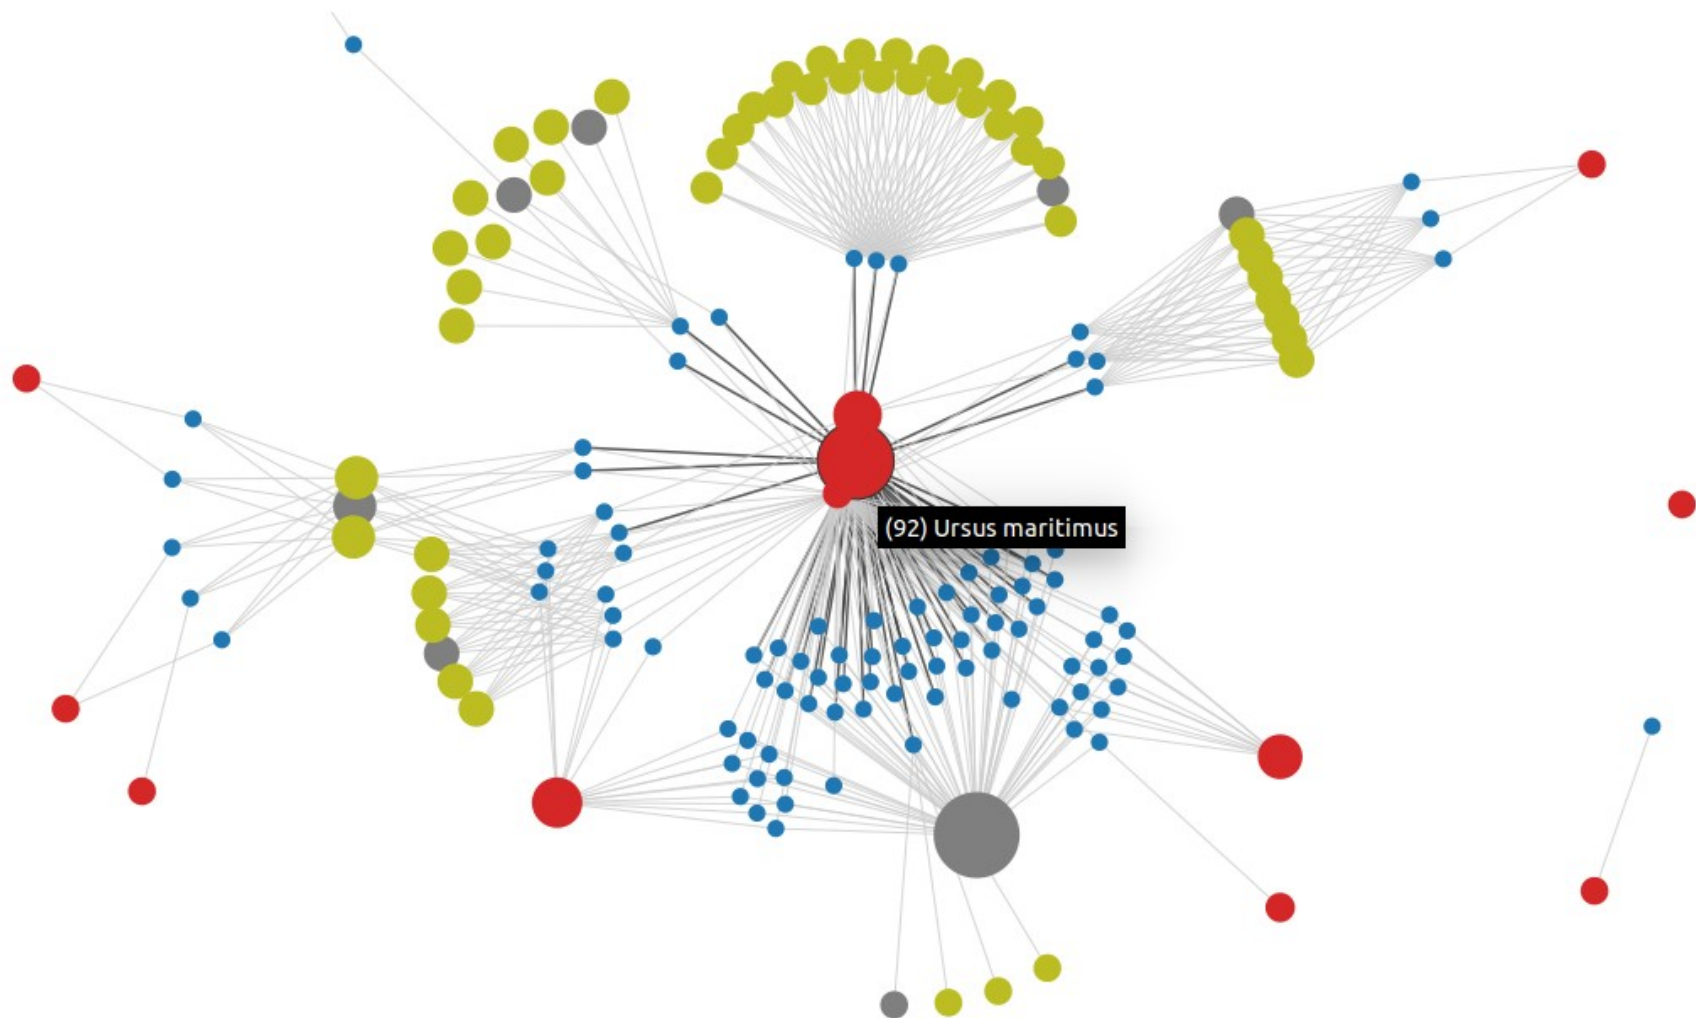

COLLABORATIONS

- University of Bath: PLUTo (Phyloinformatic Literature Unlocking Tools)
- OpenKnowledge: FutureTDM (H2020)
- OpenTrials: Clinical Trials

PLUTo

Bubbles

What can content mining do for you?

- Describe your research question
- How can the use of large text collections help?